

When evaluating the actions and lives of others, look at the motives behind their behaviors, not the behaviors or actions themselves.

Why people do things shows a great deal about their character.

Steer clear of those with the shallow motive of self-serving platitudes;

Feeling good about how they look doing their helpful deeds.

Look beyond the surface, for we tend to be a shallow society.
